DETAILS

The formula in Energy is not only proposed to support overall energy, but to assist in adapting to stressful situations. Ingredients such as Schizandra Berries are listed in the highest ranks for increasing energy, replenishing and nourishing the viscera (internal abdominal organs) and supporting improved vision.

Paulina cupana, Brazilian breakfast tea or Brazilian guarana, acts on the central nervous system to prevent fatigue and break down lactic acid from muscle stress. Guarana contains natural caffeine and other Phenolic-containing antioxidant compounds. They activate the central nervous system, which spurs the body's ability to burn calories and unwanted fat cells through the Thermogenic process. Besides caffeine, Guarana contains a host of other xanthines. The primary xanthenes are Theobromine and Theophylline; they act as muscle relaxants and possess diuretic properties.

All of these elements combine in Energy for a high-energy supplement that supports increased mental alertness, the fight against fatigue, and mood elevation, for the ultimate source for heightened performance.

The adaptogenic plants, and natural caffeine contained in this formula provide support as a lasting balance of metabolic activity or energy and buffer the nervous effect of caffeine.
