DETAILS

Melt is a synergistic combination of ingredients that support the body's ability to burn calories, stabilize blood sugar levels, and enhance fat and carbohydrate metabolism. As the metabolism is stimulated soluble and non-soluble fibers play a role in suppressing the appetite and giving a full feeling, and reducing cravings.

Melt is an excellent source of fiber to support cardiovascular health and slow absorption of carbohydrates, thus making it a great product to support those who suffer from sugar metabolism issues. The fiber in Melt also supports the body in fat and cholesterol absorption by attaching to the free fats in the small intestine and disallowing absorption through the intestinal walls. Clinical experience, including before and after blood work, has demonstrated a significant reduction in blood cholesterol when fiber is included in the diet.
